

TROUBLE BREWS OVER IRISH HOME RULE BILL

Redmond Criticizes Asquith's Proposition as Pure Unionist Plan, Obnoxious to Ireland

WITHDRAWS HIS SUPPORT TO PLAN

Asquith Sidesteps Advisory Council in Evasive Speech and Favors Iron Hand in Ireland

(By Review Leased Wire.)
LONDON, July 31.—The debate in the House of Commons today on John Dillon's motion urging the government to disclose its plan for the government of Ireland during the war, seems to have left the prospect of an amicable settlement of the Irish problem as distant as before.

Premier Asquith made a conciliatory speech, but he had little to announce, leading to appease nationalist susceptibility for, although he expressed the conviction that a permanent settlement would be reached sooner than many persons imagined, John Redmond, the nationalist leader, made it clear that his party was dissatisfied and would henceforth consider itself detached from association with the government and free to criticize and oppose it independently in any circumstances.

Old Castle Government.
The main ground for his objections to the government's plan for interim government was that it would be in the hands of the new secretary for Ireland, Henry Ward Duke and the attorney general, Sir Frederick Smith, both unionists; that in fact it was a revival of Castle Government.

Mr. Redmond, in the course of his speech made much of the agreement between Sir Edward Carson and himself. He said he did not think it was worth Sir Edward Carson's while to seek to vary the terms of the agreement. Mr. Redmond added that the position of the nationalist party was that in the midst of the great war, it was impossible seriously to consider a permanent settlement of these questions. They had agreed to every word of the written contract, which was accepted by their followers as a temporary measure.

Unionist Plan.
He had objected to the formation of a coalition government at first, but what they now were getting was a pure unionist government in Ireland.
He did not care how able or broad-minded such a government might be, he objected to it altogether. It would cause the most profound dissatisfaction in Ireland and instead of allaying the present unrest, would tend in the opposite direction.

Martial Law Distasteful.
The government, he contended, ought instantly to withdraw the permission of martial law. He assured the House that throughout the unhappy circumstances of this controversy he has not been able to forget the war. He repeated that the very highest interests of Ireland consisted in that country doing her duty, and she was doing it now.

Asquith Evasive.
The leading feature of Premier Asquith's speech was the announcement of the new secretary for Ireland, his sidetracking of the so-called Plunkett scheme for an advisory council, which had been strongly supported outside of the House, but which the Premier declared was impracticable, and the announcement that there would be no reduction of the military forces in Ireland. He also suggested that all unionist members of the cabinet were in practical agreement with Lord Lansdowne. This was further confirmed by Andrew Bonar Law, secretary for the colonies, who admitted that Lord Lansdowne and himself had arrived at the same point by different paths.

Charges Cowardice.
Joseph Devlin, who followed, said he had knowledge that the next time he marched with the unionists through the lobby, it would be for turning out the coalition government. He warned the government not to kill the constitutional movement for home rule and charged the Premier with cowardice in turning over to Lloyd George the attempt to reach a settlement. "It was another example of the Premier's method of shifting responsibility."

would imperil health or safety of the troops.

The report says day coaches were used only in cases where owing to the urgency of the situation and the large number of troops being moved at one time it was not practical to delay.

Regarding rations, the secretary reports that where cooking equipment was not placed in trains, the men were furnished with money to buy hot coffee, the same as troops of the regular army allowed under similar conditions.

"There was no reason for troops seeking food of citizens enroute," he said. "It is not possible, unless rations have been thrown away, that troops which could have been reported short of rations, could have been short.
Every precaution was taken to see that they started with an ample supply. These troops are largely recruits untrained and undisciplined."

Acting Quartermaster General Sharpe reported that to have moved all the troops in Pullman or tourist cars would have required 3,000 cars.
The Pullman Company made available for the troops 80 percent of all tourist cars it owns.

Representative Slayden, who, all through the Mexican troubles, has been one of the administration's critics for not using the guard on the border, spoke in the House today in commendation of the conditions of the guardsmen.

also was a liberal sprinkling of men to him.

To Senator Harding fell the duty of formally notifying Mr. Hughes that he was the Republican party's candidate for the presidency. He read his address and was accorded liberal applause. Mr. Hughes' address of acceptance consumed about an hour and a quarter. In spite of the intense heat which wilted collars and made perspi-eryone in the hall, the first formal speech of the nominee since his nomination was followed with keenest in-

ARIZONA GUARDS CAN'T SEE FOREIGN SERVICE

(By Review Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Mooted questions about the status of state troops called into the federal service for the Mexican emergency are decided in an exhaustive opinion given Secretary Baker by Brigadier General Crowder, Judge Advocate of the Army.
General Crowder holds that the state soldiers are not subject to duty outside of the United States unless and until they are formally drafted by order of the President; that respective state governors, and that they are entitled to the same pensions and provisions as the regulars. In the meantime, he says, the status of the state troops "is that of militia called into the service of the United States for one of the purposes specified in the constitution that is to protect the United States from invasion."

There are three classes of troops now in federal service, according to the opinion. They are first, the "organized militia" of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico, summoned by the President in his first call for state troops under the Dick law of 1903; second the national guard automatically placed in federal service and the new national defense act, the Hay-Chamberlain bill; and third, the regular troops. "The militia which have not qualified under the new law have status identical with those of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico."

MEXICANS SNIPING AT MONTANA GUARDS ROUSES DOUGLAS

General Davis Warns Calles to Prevent Nightly Visi-tions of Disturbers to the Smelter City

(By Review Leased Wire.) DOUGLAS, July 31.—Reports of sniping from the Mexican side of the boundary at sentries of the Second Montana Infantry have been brought to the attention of Brigadier General T. F. Davis, commanding the Arizona district, who has ordered an investigation.

Five shots were fired across the border last night at one sentry, it was stated at the Montana camp, two miles west of Douglas today, one striking at the feet of one of the men on duty. The American sentries made no reply as the shots were apparently fired from a distance of seven eight hundred yards.

The sniping, which has become a nightly occurrence, is ascribed to American military circles to a new Sonora counter-revolutionary party, in their anxiety to secure the overthrow of the Carranza government and bri-ing about intervention, members of this faction are said to slip across the border from Douglas nightly and hold meetings about a mile west of Agua Prieta.

It is reported on reliable authority that the Mexican officials have been informed of the plot and their capture will be followed by immediate execution, it was stated.

Soldiers Face Trial.

Steve Nacey and Arthur G. Eastland, privates in Company K, Eleventh infantry, were surrendered to the civil authorities today by the regimental officers, to stand trial on the charge of holding up Perry R.
Smith's grocery store on the night of July 15. The military police are said to have secured strong evidence of their guilt.

Uncan Whiskey.

American customs officials seized four lard cans filled with whiskey being shipped from Douglas to Nacorari, Sonora, when one of the soldiers on border guard duty plunged his bayonet into the lard and broke a bottle of the liquor. Investigation showed that each of the cans contained a case of whiskey packed in flour to prevent breakage and with a coating of lard over all.

OKLAHOMA PRIMARIES PRESAGE BIG VOTE TODAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 31.—Indications here tonight were that nine constitutional amendments to be voted upon tomorrow in addition to the Democratic, Republican, Socialist and Prohibition tickets, primaries for eight congressional and minor state office nominees may bring about a strong vote. Contesting candidates have failed for practically all of the offices. The most important amendments are those composing a literacy test of voters and providing for compulsory or elective compensation by employers in case of deaths of their employees.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There is no reason why a person should be sickening, salivating calomel —a 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tonic, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work.
Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tonic acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.
